

Access Control Policy – Meridian Analytics Inc.

Principle of Least Privilege

Employees are granted the minimum level of system access required to perform their job duties. Additional access must be requested through the IT access request system and approved by both the requester's manager and the relevant system owner.

Role-Based Access

Access to systems is assigned based on standardized role templates (e.g., "Data Analyst," "Finance Associate") wherever possible, rather than ad-hoc individual permissions, to simplify auditing and reduce configuration drift.

Access Reviews

System owners must review user access lists for Confidential and Restricted systems on a quarterly basis and revoke any access that is no longer necessary, including for employees who have changed roles internally.

Privileged Access

Administrative or privileged access to production systems requires additional approval from IT Security and is logged separately for audit purposes. Privileged accounts must not be used for routine, non-administrative tasks.

Offboarding

All system access must be revoked within 4 hours of an employee's termination being processed by HR, in line with the Employment Termination Policy, regardless of whether the termination is voluntary or involuntary.
